

Delaware Valley Chapter North American Versatile Hunting Dog Association New Member Information Packet

Introduction

The Delaware Valley Chapter of the North American Versatile Hunting Dog Association is located in Central New Jersey. The Chapter meets for regularly scheduled training sessions and NAVHDA sanctioned tests at the Colliers Mills & Greenwood Wildlife Management Areas which is located near Jackson, NJ (Great Adventure Amusement Park).

Meeting Site and Times

For all of the Training Clinics, the meeting site will be the front parking area at the entrance to either the Colliers Mills Wildlife Management Area or Greenwood Wildlife Management Area (see Directions). The location of each clinic will be available from the website and will be announced sometime in February of each year. Each clinic will begin promptly at 7:30 AM. It is strongly advised that you arrive at the meeting site at least one half hour before the start of the clinic. For our tests, we will use the same meeting area. The tests will begin promptly at 7:00 AM. Again, it is strongly advised that you arrive at the meeting grounds one half hour before the start of the test. Please note, we may utilize any number of areas on the Colliers Mills tract. Given that this WMA is approximately 11,000 acres, it will be difficult for you to find us once we leave the meeting site. Please be on time.

Chapter Training Days

The Delaware Valley Chapter holds regular training clinics at the Colliers Mills WMA. These clinics are designed to help each chapter member train their dog. These clinics are not designed for someone else to train your dog. There will be experienced people there for you to request help and advice from. These people are not there to train your dog for you. Please come prepared to work and to help out as needed. The procedure to use to attend one of the Delaware Valley clinics is as follows:

If you want to attend a clinic you are required to fill out the online form at: <http://www.delvalnavhda.com/form.html>, or call Steve Clements at 215-913-7657, BY 9:00pm THE MONDAY BEFORE THE CLINIC. No bird orders will be accepted after this time. Training birds must be ordered at this time.
